The Prevent Duty: Lawn Primary School

Transform Trust – Prevent Strategy

At Transform we know that our schools will carry out the Prevent duty in different ways, depending on the age of the children and the needs of the community. Many of the things we already do in school to help children become positive, happy members of society also contribute to the Prevent strategy. All Transform schools (as well as other organisations) have a duty to safeguard children from radicalisation and extremism. This means Transform Trust has a responsibility to protect children from extremist and violent views the same way we protect them from drugs or gang violence. Importantly, we can provide a safe place for pupils to discuss these issues so they better understand how to protect themselves and enable pupils to challenge ideas.

Extremism is defined as vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs. Extremism isn't exclusive to any section of society and can take many forms.

Radicalisation is defined as the process by which a person comes to support terrorism and extremist ideologies associated with terrorist groups.

Ideology is defined as a set of beliefs.

Terrorism is defined as a violent act against people or property, designed to create fear and advance a political, religious or ideological course.

Lawn Primary Prevent Duty Risk Assessment

The aim of the Prevent strategy is to reduce the threat to the UK from terrorism by stopping people being drawn into terrorism. Transform Trust expects all our schools to have a risk-based approach to the Prevent duty, under paragraph 14 of the Home Office's statutory guidance. This document demonstrates our awareness of the specific risks of extremism and radicalisation in our school and our area.

Local area context: Derby City has risk of gangs, drug use, alcohol miss-use and knife crime. There has also been arson attacks in the locality in the last few years.
